OC Mayors urge the public to Mask Up and slow the spread of COVID-19

If you thought masks weren't cool in Orange County, think again.

All of Orange County's 34 mayors have teamed up to send a message to residents, businesses and visitors: "Mask up to open up OC!"

The message comes in a video featuring Orange County's mayors socially distant and masked up at iconic locations across Orange County.

You can see it here: www.youtube.com/watch?v=8IXroRLLaIQ

Sites include Angel Stadium of Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Segerstrom Center for the Arts, the Tustin Hangars, Medieval Times Dinner and Tournament, Laguna Beach's Festival of the Arts Amphitheater, Los Alamitos Race Course and Yorba Linda's Birthplace of Richard Milhous Nixon.

The 34 mayors:

- Aliso Viejo: Mayor Mike Munzing
- Anaheim: Mayor Harry Sidhu

The video drives home that across diverse Orange County, we are all in this together and must work together to keep fighting coronavirus in our communities.

As Orange County's COVID-19 case numbers and testing positivity rates continue a dramatic decline, we're moving toward gradual reopening of more businesses and activities.

But, as we do so, wearing masks will be more important than ever to ensure we maintain our progress, keep our cases low and prevent another shutdown.

The OC mayors' promotional video debuts Friday, Sept. 25, on social media throughout Orange County as well as on local TV stations.

The video is produced in partnership with the Orange County Mayors coalition and the Orange County School for the Arts.
